THE MILL.

EMILIE POULSSON.

CORNELIA C. ROESKE.

1. A merry little river Went singing day by day, Until it reached a mill-dam That stretched across its way. And there it spread its waters, At a quiet pond, to wait Until the busy miller Should lift the water gate.